COMPERING COMPETITION REPORT

What is compering competition?

Reading teaches you new words and perspectives. It helps strengthen language and sharpens sentence structure. It gives you a better command over the language. All of these are critical to being a good speaker. As a result, the department of English decided to host Compering competition, a reading activity.

Compering competition is more than a reading skill. As it is said that LSRW are central to achieving effective communication skills. Reading a book with ease and effectiveness is somewhat difficult to many. To improve abilities of reading skills, this competition has been devised. Compering competition was intended to enhance language skills as well as reading skills.

A person who comperes or anchors the show is called an anchor or compere or emcee or announcer or microphone controller. The role of an anchor is to give the audience an idea of the program ahead and keep them engaged and aware of the next program. An anchor should exhibit spontaneity, originality, and genuineness. An anchor should carry the program with ease, grace, elegance, and confidence.
